

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. The public interest is best served by providing the news, not by providing partisan rants for either party in an attempt to influence an election.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. I hope you will take Sinclair's action here into consideration when renewing its license. Thank you.
